

Dr. Jilkine is a clinical rheumatologist and assistant professor at the University of Manitoba. He has a focus on northern and remote access to care. He is a medical advisor for the Ongomiizwin Health Services specialist program which provides over 500 days of annual of specialist services spread across a few dozen remote communities across Manitoba and Nunavut. He travels regularly for clinics in Hodgson, Norway House, and Churchill MB in addition to his primary practice in Winnipeg.